PEKING GETS WARNING IN MANIFESTO OF SOUTHERNERS

Leaders Here Brand As Ridiculous Act Of Tsen Chun-hsuan

MOTIVE IS SEEN

Charged Purpose Is To Mislead Foreigners In Loan Deals

STATE POSITION

Reconstruction Body To Be Appointed, Says President Hsu

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Shanghai, October 31.—The following translation of a manifesto, signed by the Constitutionalist leaders, has been handed to Reuter's Agency for publication:

"The North and South having been divided by strife for several years to the detriment of the country, so that the Friendly Powers have also expressed the hope for an early cessation of hostilities, we, the undersigned, joined as always with the desire for peace, thereupon with the utmost frankness entered into relations with the North in the expectation that the question regarding foreign relations, the constitution, etcetera, would receive a just and proper solution.

SOUTH FOR CONSTITUTION

"Since the reason for the South-West taking up arms was the due maintenance of constitutionalism and the salvation of the country, with no aims of private or selfish advantage or gain, it was believed that a peace conference conducted in the open as best calculated to show the world that there was nothing which needed concealment and dread publicity.

"Although the conference, which was actually held, unfortunately yielded no results, the conference as the official organ for the negotiation of peace has never been abolished.

"In repeated statements issued by the undersigned dated respectively June 6, July 28 and October 23, 1920, it has been announced that, if the North be sincere in the desire for peace, they should not set aside the formal and open peace conference and deal clandestinely with one or two irresponsible individuals with any prospect of success.

CHARGES PUERILE ACTION

"Recently the Cantonese troops have returned to Kwangtung and Mr. Tsen Chun-hsuan and General Mu Yung-hsin have been defeated and obliged to take to flight.

"These men—at the very moment of fleeing for their lives—pretend to "cancel independence." Their flight is pitiable; their act ridiculous.

"It is with great surprise therefore that we learn that this fact has been seized upon as a pretext for the North to make an announcement of pretended unification.

"Such farcical and puerile action really needs no denunciation but for the fact that the motive of the North in taking it is to make use of the pretended unification in the faint hope that it might serve to delude foreigners into making loans so as to give a new lease of life to the illegal government.

REFUSE RECOGNITION

"Therefore, at the risk of repetition, we make this formal statement. Mr. Tsen Chun-hsuan long ago lost his official status and position but the Military (Constitutional) Government exists entirely unaffected by the backslidings of individuals like Mr. Tsen and others.

We absolutely refuse to recognise this announcement of the North. Let no one—whether fellow-citizens or friendly Powers—be deceived by it. The North having thus exhibited complete lack of good-faith and resorted to such crafty and transparent means, it is clear on whom lies the responsibility for any complications arising thereby in the general political situation. We hereby bring this announcement

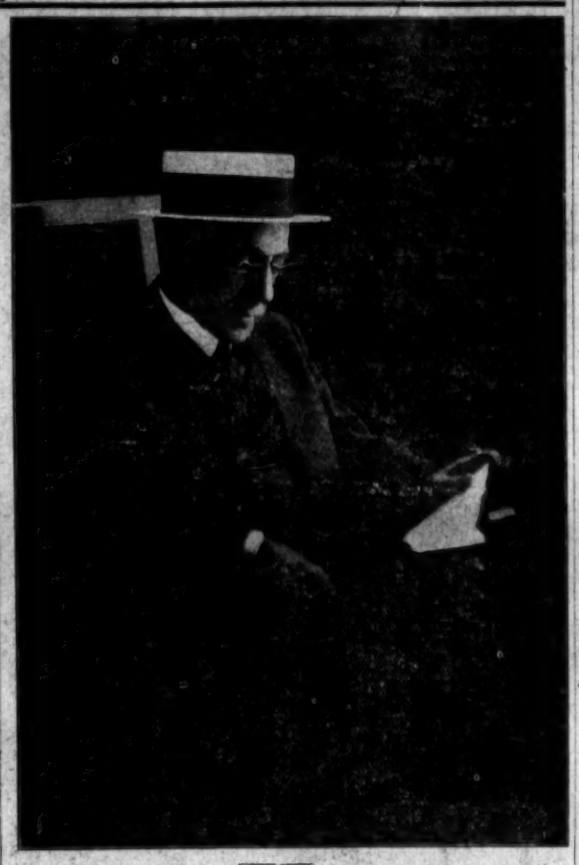
Hon. T. R. Jernigan Dead



Mr. T. R. Jernigan, dean of the American bar in China, former Consul-General here, and widely known for the many articles he contributed to newspapers and magazines, died at his home on Whangpoo Road at 9 o'clock last night from acute dysentery after an illness of only a few days. He returned from a shooting trip to Ningpo early last week, was stricken and failed rapidly. He was 68 years old.

During his 35 years in the Far East—he came to Kobe as United States Consul-General in Cleveland's first term—he made an enviable reputation as a citizen, a public official, an author and member of the bar. His passing will be deeply mourned by all who knew him and his aquaintances were legion, gained through many years of useful service which brought him into intimate touch with practically every nationality.

A STAUNCH AMERICAN

As Consul-General at Kobe and at Shanghai he gave his best to American interests and when he left the Consular service in 1897 to enter the practice of law here he continued his efforts for American business and prestige through his many articles written for various publications, both in China and the United States.

As an attorney-at-law Mr. Jernigan was loved and respected by his associates at the bar. He was recognised as an authority in international and constitutional law.

Mr. Jernigan was born in Raleigh, North Carolina, in 1852 and received his education at the University of Virginia. He practiced law and edited a newspaper in Raleigh for several years and first entered public life as a member of the North Carolina State Senate.

He was appointed Consul-General at Kobe by President Grover Cleveland in 1885, filled the post for four years and then returned to Raleigh where he resumed his law practice. In Cleveland's second term, he was appointed Consul-General at Shanghai, coming here in 1893 and serving until 1897.

AS A LAWYER HERE

Until 1905 he was alone in the practice of law here. Mr. Sterling Fessenden joined him then, forming the law firm of Jernigan and Fessenden. Three years ago Mr. Earl B. Rose became a partner and United States District Attorney Holcomb joined the firm about a year ago. For several years Mr. Jernigan has been acting in an advisory capacity and has left the trial of cases to his associates.

Six months ago, in recognition of his intimate knowledge of Chinese affairs, Mr. Jernigan was made Advisor to the Hague Conference.

Two books written by Mr. Jernigan have had wide circulation. His "China in Law and Commerce" and "Shooting in China" have been accepted as authoritative in their special lines and the author's clear-cut style and knowledge of the subjects have made them popular.

BURIAL AT NANKING

Mr. Jernigan is survived by a widow, three sons and a daughter. One of his sons, Paul Jernigan manager of the Standard Oil Company at Tientsin, is on his way from the United States on the steamer Ecuador, which is due to arrive in Yokohama on Friday and is scheduled to reach here on November 10th. His daughter, Frances, and son, Starkey, are well known in Shanghai.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late last night but it is expected that funeral services will be held at the Bubbling Well Chapel tomorrow afternoon. Following Mr. Jernigan's wishes, the interment will be at Nanking.

ONLY UNDER COMPULSION CAN GERMANY MEET TERMS

This Is Opinion Given By Foreign Minister In Reichstag

WAXES IRONICAL

Says Some Adversaries Want To Milk Cow, Others To Kill It

TALKS OF LEAGUE

Holds It Inadvisable To Decline To Join If Invited To Do So

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, October 29.—The Foreign Minister, Herr von Simons, reviewing the situation in the Reichstag today, said that Germany's adversaries were swayed by two main currents of opinion. One wanted to milk the cow and the other to slaughter it.

He declared that compulsion would be necessary, if the execution of every provision of the Peace Treaty were rigorously insisted upon. Herr von Simons dealt largely with the German objection to destroying the highspeed Diesel engines, used in submarines, which was demanded by the Treaty. He contended that the engines, which were valued at 1,500,000,000 marks, were adaptable for industrial purposes in spite of excessive consumption of fuel.

The Foreign Minister welcomed Great Britain's declaration that she would not seize German property and mentioned a similar kind of arrangement between other belligerents, including Japan, for an agreement to release the property of so-called "small Germans."

He said that, although the League of Nations was not very popular at the present moment, it would be inadvisable to decline admittance, if that were proposed from a quarter other than Germany herself and were not vetoed by France. Germany, Herr von Simons concluded, would, however, claim the right to co-operate in the mandate system. He asserted that it had been proved that Germany was equally capable of colonial power with other nations.

MESSAGE 'PICKED UP'

Peking, October 28.—The following German wireless message from Nauen, which has been picked up by the Chinese wireless here, is issued, with the full reserve that German propaganda demands.

Berlin.—The Chancellor, addressing the Reischstag, pointed out the difficult political and economic situation in that country. Germany was no longer a nation strong in arms. He urged discretion in the attitude of the people towards the foreign missions and the maintenance of strict neutrality in spite of many attempts to entice Germany out of it. The correct policy was to avoid conflicts with the foreign Powers on German soil.

The eastern population was not always able to estimate rightly the danger threatening in the west, while it was psychologically explained that their demand to oppose the Poles was not justified. Disarmament was proceeding satisfactorily, also the delivery of arms by the civil population. Agreements reached at Spa, regarding coal delivery, were being complied with. Another hardship entailed by the Versailles treaty was the occupation conditions, specially the overwhelming amounts demanded for the maintenance of foreign armies, and the painful consequences of black troops being used in occupied districts. It remained to be seen whether an agreemnt could be reached at Geneva about the performances to be accomplished by Germany.

It was the Entente's duty to safeguard an uninfluenced plebiscite in Upper Silesia.

VOICES CAUTION

The Chancellor gave a caution against the fantastic proposals of the Communists to have conditions ameliorated through the realisation of their ideas. The basis of Germany's economic policy must be thrift, toil, and devotion to duty, using all the forces of agriculture and industry, restoring traffic, finances and social policy on modern principles. The nationalisation of coal mines would be prepared. Elections for the Reischtag would be held possibly simul-

Late Yangtsze Tuchun's Body Carried Through City Streets Behind Colorful Procession; Orderly Crowd Throngs Capital To See Cortege Leave For Ancestral Home In Tientsin

With a splendid and elaborate display of military pomp, probably exceeding anything of the sort ever accorded an official in this part of China, the body of Tuchun Li Shun of Kiangsu, was moved from the yamen in Nanking Sunday morning and began its journey to the late military governor's native place in Tientsin.

Nanking, its own population swelled by throngs from the surrounding territory, watched the colorful ceremony quietly, the city's official departments, its organisations of various sorts, educational institutions and the representatives of various bodies from other points paying tribute to the memory of the dead Tuchun. There was no disorder, in contradiction to rumors that preceded the ceremony both in Nanking and other places, and the thousands of military police strung in a double line along the five-mile route of the procession handled the crowds well and without difficulty.

Nanking's last official tribute to its departed military chieftain brought to a colorful close his three-year career in the provincial capitol. The city swarmed with spectators, who banked the line of march and perched on every vantage point hours before the cortege got under way. Early morning saw cavalcades from the surrounding country converging on the city from every direction. On donkeys, barrows, ricshas and afoot the peasantry streamed in through the city gates while the morning trains and those of the night before brought other crowds—spectators as well as representatives who came officially—from points as far south as Shanghai and as far to the north as Peking.

The hour set for the moving off of the procession was 11 a.m. but fear that the extent of the ceremonies might preclude reaching the Pukow ferry before nightfall led to an eleventh hour advancement of the time and the first units of the parade started from the West Gate of the Tuchun's yamen shortly after 9 a.m.

FULLY 5,000 In MARCH

How many persons participated in the march it would be difficult to state will accuracy. Units of school children and older students, military and naval detachments, representative groups of different commercial organisa-

CROWN OFFICERS IN CORK UNDER THREAT OF DEATH; RITES POSTPONED

Government's Change Of Plan With MacSwiney's Body Bitterly Resented

LIMITS LENGTH OF FUNERAL

Queenstown Halts Activities On Arrival Of Late Lord Mayor's Remains

(Reuter's Service)

New York, October 31.—An Associated Press message from Cork reports that a British intelligence officer declared that he had received intercepted information to the effect that every officer and man of the Crown forces who appears in the streets of Cork tomorrow is likely to be shot.

It is also reported from London that the Sinn Fein Executive has decided to postpone the funeral of Lord Mayor MacSwiney at Cork, which was fixed for Monday, as a protest against the Government's action in the matter, and to appeal against the order of the military authorities restricting the length of the funeral procession to a quarter of a mile.

CROWDS MEET STEAMER

London, October 27.—The remains of Mr. MacSwiney were landed at Queenstown this afternoon and were received by the members of the Urban Council. The crowds, assembled on the quay, numbered many thousands. Business was completely suspended in the town. Strong indignation was expressed at the action of the Government in diverting the body to Queenstown instead of allowing it to proceed to Dublin as expected.

The change of plans led to dramatic scenes at Holyhead in the early hours of the morning. The funeral train was met by a strong body of police, and military. Up to the last moment the plan was to convey the corpse to Dublin where elaborate arrangements had been made for the reception of the cortege. The alteration was not suspected until the Irish party on board the train observed that it was not proceeding to the usual pier.

SOUTH WALES STRIKE VOTE OPPOSED TO SETTLEMENT

Prospects Favorable In Other Coalfields In Britain, However

RAIL MEN MEET

Decision Is To Await Result Of Ballot Of Miners

TERMS APPROVED

Conditions Held To Be Fair By Experts On Both Sides

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, October 29.—The prospects of the coal strike settlement being accepted appear to be favorable everywhere except in South Wales. Comfortable and even large majorites are anticipated in practically all the coalfields but no secret is made in South Wales of the opinion that too many conditions are attached to the granting of the two shilling increase in wages.

In anticipation of the acceptance of the terms arrangements are being made to resume work as speedily as possible.

The settlement was reported to the delegate meeting of the Railwaymen's Union, at the conclusion of which it was announced that the meeting approved the settlement and had decided to take no further action pending the result of the miners' ballot.

RESULT IS CO-OPERATION

London, October 29.—The most hopeful feature of the coal settlement as regards to the future of the industry is the great opportunity of establishing a new spirit of co-operation.

For the past five or six years the owners and the miners have kept apart to the detriment of output. Now they have both loyally undertaken to work together for the common purpose of developing the productivity of the industry and most important results are expected by official circles from this co-operation.

TERMS COMPLICATED

London, October 29.—Although the full terms of the coal strike settlement are complicated, it is pointed out by experts that three main principles underly the agreement, which is hailed as fair and honorable by both sides, they are as follows:

In the first place, the increased wages are made dependent on increased production.

Secondly, during the period before the adoption of a permanent scheme for the regulation of wages, it is settled that the industry will be freed from fresh claims.

Thirdly, the owners and miners are under an obligation to co-operate whole-heartedly to secure the best results in the interests of the nation.

PEACE IS PREDICTED

Lord Milner, in moving the second reading of the emergency bill in the House of Lords, remarked that they were by no means out of the wood as far as the present crisis was concerned. On the other hand, a prominent Labor leader predicts ten years' peace in the coalfields as the result of the settlement.

A number of trade unionist leaders—among them Mr. J. H. Thomas, M. P., the railwaymen's leader, Mr. J. R, Clynes, M. P., President of the National Union of General Workers, and Mr. Gosling, of the Transport Workers Union—have given their public support to the settlement, and declare that it is "a good peace." They express the hope that the ballot will confirm.

RECOMMEND ACCEPTANCE

It is believed that the fact that the Executive of the Miners' Federation in making a definite recommendation to the miners to accept the terms will insure a satisfactory ballot, but Mr. Vernon Hartshorn, M. P. one of the Welsh leaders, made the warning statement yesterday evening that: "That whole thing is not over. We are only just beginning, now that the terms are going before the men."

Meanwhile, the urgency of the need for the resumption of work as early as possible is emphasised by the fact that there are now 210,000 workers directly [illegible] through the strike.

Committee Completes Survey For Construction Of Seven-Story Building For Shanghai Men

A foreign Y. M. C. A. building, to cost in the neighborhood of Tls. 625,000, to provide housing facilities, a social center, opportunity for physical development and to give attention to the moral and spiritual welfare of the foreign youth of Shanghai—to include every feature known to the most up-to-date and best equipped Y.M.C.A's. of Western lands—is the objective which an interested group of local Americans have set for themselves, and toward the attainment of which active steps are now being taken.

A complete survey of the field has already been made and plans for the raising of the fund necessary to carry the project through have been gone into. It is planned to raise [illegible] of the total sum here and [illegible] the remaining third to organisations in America wihch have an interest in such undertakings—branches of the domestic and foreign Y.M.C.A.., committees in charge of war work funds of the Y.M.C.A., Red Cross and welfare organisations and the like.

Today Election Day In U.S. Republican Victory Probable

Today is election day in the United States and aside from the usual interest in the choosing of a chief executive by the American people it will mark a new era in American politics—for American women will vote.

Also for the first time in history two newspaper editors are the leading candidates for the presidency and both are from the state of Ohio: Warren Gamaliel Harding of Marion, Republican standard bearer and James M. Cox of Dayton, the present governor, the democratic nominee. The Republican candidate for vice-president is Calvin Coolidge, the Governor of Massachusetts who sprang into national prominence when he quelled the Boston police strike in September last year. Franklin D. Roosevelt, prominent New York lawyer and assistant secretary of the Navy until a few months ago, when he resigned to devote his entire time to the campaign is the vice-presidential candidate of the Democratic party.

DEBS RUNNING A GAME

Eugene V. Debs, now serving a sentence in the Federal penitetiary at Atlanta, Ga., is the Socialist candidate for president. It is his fourth attempt. The Farmer-Labor party, an organisation formed this summer, has nominated W. R. Christensen of Utah as its candidate for president.

Indications point to Republican victory, with Republican strength asserting itself in all parts of the country except the Southern and Mountain States. The solid South is figured to go Democratic while the Mountain States are doubtful.

INTEREST IN OHIO

Much interest centers in the State of Ohio, the home of both candidates, which is normally Republican but elected a Democratic governor, Cox, in 1912 and again in 1916 after he had been defeated in 1914. His term expires in January.

Harding has been a state senator, lieutenant governor of the state in 1910, and was elected United States while 250,000 more are working on short time.

WELSH MINERS OPPOSED

The first reports from the coalfields show that the prospects of the miners' ballot are favorable, except in South Wales, where the power of the extremists has been steadily increasing. The miners' leaders will doubtless have a great task to carry the proposals in Wales. The Times correspondent at Cardiff declares that nobody there will be surprised if there is a heavy vote against the terms.

MOVE IN SZECHUEN

Chengtu, October 29.—General Hsiung Ko-wu and his party are now openly advocating complete independence of Szechuen from North and South, including use of the salt and customs revenues. Hsiung is also proceeding with the invasion of Yunnan and Kweichow.

General Liu Tsen-hou's attitude is at present non-committal regarding Szechuen development; he is waiting for the outcome of the prospects of peace between North and South.

GOVERNMENT TO APPOINT RECONSTRUCTION BOARD

A reconstruction commission will be appointed following the conclusion of peace between the North and the South, according to a statement made by President Hsu to Dr. C. T. Wang, who is in Peking in connection with the famine relief work.

The commission will consist of influential officials of both the North and the South and will map out a program whereby the details of the peace arrangements will be worked out.

Before the organisation of the commission, the Cabinet and the Presidential Office will make temporary appointments of the officials of the South, arrange to call the Parliament by March 1921, invite leaders of the Southwest to proceed to Peking and to allot certain areas along the coast for naval bases.

Dr. Wang has announced that he will not serve as chairman of the Commission on Treaty Relations.

Premier Chin has personally invited General Tsen Chun-hsuan to come up to the North for a conference on the reconstruction program.

GENERAL MA CHI DESTROYS ARSENAL AT SHEKCHENG

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Oct. 29.—General Ma Chi, commanding the Kwangsi troops at Canton after the departure of General Mu Yung-hsin, destroyed the Government arsenal at Shekcheng last night. The loss is estimated at more than $10,000,000.

It is understood that the arsenal was the second largest in China. The Cantonese are much enraged over this action because General Mu Yung-hsin had already formally announced his evacuation of Canton. The Cantonese, believing in General Mu Yung-hsin's sincerity, permitted General Ma Chi, who was director of the arsenal, every courtesy and freedom of movement, unsuspecting any treachery.

General Ma Chi first mined the machinery in the arsenal and then set fire to the buildings, which were totally destroyed.

There has been minor fighting in several parts of Canton owing to Kwangsi troops refusing to surrender their arms.

CHEN IN CANTON

General Chen Chiung-ming is expected in Canton today.

It is understood that the Kwangsi troops expect to retreat to Tsingyun, then to Szewui and on to Wuchow. They expect possibly to return to Canton, should Peking despatch reinforcements.

General Chen Pin-chun, a Kwangsi leader, has declared a revolution against General Lu Yung-ting and has captured Kweilin. He is welcoming the invasion of Yunnanese troops from Hunan.

Bolivian Revolution Quickly Suppressed

German Minister Sees Crisis Ahead

taneously with the Prussian elections.

The longings of the Austrian people were painfully re-echoed in Germany. Separatist efforts would meet with the resistance of the undestroyable feeling of unity. The Chancellor concluded by saying that light and shadow would be more and more equally divided as time went on. The government and the people will endeavor to create a peaceful homestead out of the ruins.

DIFFICULTIES HERE

Berlin, Oct. 30.—In the course of a speech in the Rechstag, the Foreign Minister, dealing with the relations between Germany and China, said that considerable difficulties still remainded to the cleared up owing to Germany's lack of resources and the shortage of overseas traffic.

REPLY TO NOTE

Paris, October 30.—The French Government has replied to the note in which the British Government informed the Ambassadors' Conference of its decision to waive its right, under paragraph 18 of Annex 1, part 8, of the Treaty of Versailles, to attach German property in the United Kingdom in the event of default on Germany's part.

The reply, according to the Petit Parisien, states in the clearest terms that paragraph 18 should stand integrally intact, and should not be modified by any of the Allies whatsoever.

ACTION APPROVED

London, October 28.—Reuter's Agency understands that the view taken in authoritative British circles of the action of the Government in waiving its right to attach German property in the United Kingdom is that there is nothing in it inconsistent with perfect loyalty to the Treaty of Versailles.

It in no way implies any revision or modification of the treaty. The only effect of this renunciation will be to free international commerce from restrictions and uncertainties.

(Note:—The foregoing statement is an answer to the objections which have been raised in France to the action of the British Government.)

GRANTS CONCESSION

London, October 29.—The Inter-Allied Aviation Commission has consented to waive the destruction under the terms of the peace treaty of nine military aerodromes, four seaplane stations and three airship harbors in Germany.

Fifteen percent of privately-owned aviation buildings, used for military purposes during the war, will be left standing but with very few exceptions airship sheds will be pulled down.

It is officially stated that the aerodromes in question will be utilised for international civil aviation and the Allies will take the necessary precautions to prevent the use of the aerodromes by the Germans for military purposes.

AEROPLANE SEIZED

Berlin, October 28.—The Berlinger Tageblatt states that the British officers on the Inter-Allied Commission have confiscated a new aeroplane belonging to the Aerial Traffic Company, on the ground that it was a camouflaged military aeroplane.

HARDING DENIES ALLEGED AGENT'S ACT IN SIBERIA

Soviet Said To Have Given Concession To American In Northeast

(Reuter's Service)

New York, October 28.—Mr. Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, has announced that a man claiming to represent Senator Harding had made a proposal to Lenin for the recognition of the Russian Soviet Government, should Senator Harding be elected. Mr. Colby said the man who talked to Lenin was named Vanderlip.

HARDING'S DENIAL

Washington, October 27.—Mr. Bainbridge Colby, the Secretary of State, announces that Mr. Young, the American Commissioner at Riga, has informed the State Department that Mr. Washington Vanderlip, who is stated to be negotiating with the Soviet with a view to opening trade relations between the United States and Russia, is reported to have told Lenin that he represented Senator Harding.

Senator Harding, speaking at Marion, Ohio, declared that he had never heard of Mr. Washington Vanderlip and knew nothing of the matters discussed and was in no way interested in them.

MORE DETAILS

New York, October 28.—The Soviet representative, Mr. Martens, has declared that he has received a telegram from the Soviet Government saying that Mr. Vanderlip, representing a syndicate of Pacific Coast capitalists, has concluded arrangements for the development of the resources of North-Eastern Siberia.

It is stated that the same group will represent Russian financial affairs in the United States. The capitalists include Mr. Harry Chandler.

The cablegram added that the syndicate had acquired a 60 years' lease of the territory east of the 160th meridian, including Kamchatka, with exclusive rights to exploit the coal and oil resources, also the fisheries. Possession of the commerce development scheme will be taken in the spring of 1921.

TOKIO'S VIEWS

Tokio, October 30.—Considerable comment was caused in the Tokio press by the report that the Vanderlip syndicate had secured a lease of a vast tract of land in Siberia.

All the comments on the report, which is generally credited, are moderate in tone, tinged with admiration for American enterprise. At the same time, there is no lack of criticism of the failure of Japan to grasp similar opportunities.

Some newspapers scent in the report a Bolshevik attempt to embroil America and Japan.

Space Allocated To Banking Firms On Walls In Streets Of City

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 30.—On the occasion of the last French Government Loan the walls of Paris were indiscriminately plastered with posters of all hues. This time the available hoarding space along the main thoroughfares of the capital has been systematically allocated to the different financial houses for their advertisements.

The pictorial advertisements range from the usual flags, and pathetic-looking girls, to scenes depicting France at work—landscapes showing the factories of the North, workman turning a wheel, the busy hustle of a Mediterranian port, etc.

It may be added, however, that there is no need for all this advertising to persuade townsfolk and villagers to subscribe to the loan.

Policy Unchanged For Aland Islands

(Reuter's Service)

Stockholm, Oct. 28.—The Premier (Baron de Geer) has stated that the Government will firmly adhere to the previous Government's policy in regard to the Aland Islands. It would carefully consider all possible measures for the support of the country's industrial and commercial life, and exercise strict economy, but would maintain the quality of Sweden's defense, he said.

LAW CALIFORNIA MAY PASS UNDER FIRE AT TOKIO

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, October 31.—Baron Yoshiro Sakatani, ex-Minister of Finance, presided today at a joint meeting of various organisations, established in Japan with the object of promoting American-Japanese friendship.

The meeting passed a resolution stating that it was confident that any differences would be settled satisfactorily on a basis of humanity, reason and justice but deeply regretted the California Bill, which was "harsh, sweeping, radical and ungrateful in view of the Japanese contribution to the wealth of California, and also calculated to mar cordial relations between the two countries."

The resolution stated that the meeting believed that it could rely upon the citizens of the United States to right any injustice. The meeting would welcome non-discriminatory substitute for the "Gentlemen's Agreement" and also any measures providing for the assimilation of Japanese as American citizens. The resolution urged the people of Japan to remain patient and not to be excited and to display their confidence in an ultimate acceptable solution of the question.

OAK
IS THE BEST TOO GOOD FOR YOU?
No! And the sooner you realise that OAK is the one perfect wood for FLOORING, PANELLING, WAINSCOTING and all INTERIOR DECORATIONS, better.
The cost is not prohibitive, in fact it runs about the same as a first class carpet.
The arguments in favour of OAK are quite unanswerable; durability, cost, and last but by no means least, HYGIENE.
Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.
We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. We prefer to do this for you.

Body Of Tuchun Li Shun Borne Through Streets Of Nanking

tions, joined the marchers at intervals and after covering certain designated stages dropped out again to give place to others. It is probable that fully 5,000 people took part in the parade.

The huge yamen in the city was a hive of activity and a blaze of gorgeous colors from early morning and even through the last hours of the night as the scores of officials, priests musicians and other participants in the funeral observances gathered to make final preparations and accomplish the preliminary rites.

OFFICIALS PAY RESPECTS

Early in the day military and civil dignitaries, foreign as well as Chinese, called at the yamen to pay their final respects and tender condolences.

The numerous spacious courtyards of the yamen grounds were literally walled about with brilliant silken banners and funeral impedimenta sent in tribute by the Tuchun's friends while bands of specially secured funeral musicians and parties of Taoist and Buddhist priests, clad in robes of flaming orange and scarlet, crowded the outer compounds, the weird monotony of the latters' chantings fading at intervals under the overtone of cymbals and the wail of the long funeral trumpets.

Dozens of officials in charge of arrangements scudded about with final instructions for the divisional leaders and outside others were already forming into line their various detachments and the long gray columns of the military police were swinging along the winding stretch of the Tu Shu Ta Chia—The Road to the Tuchun's Yamen—with company after company falling out along the way to form the five-mile double cordon that should make clear the way for Li's last journey abroad in Nanking.

BODY LIES IN STATE

The Tuchun's body, in its massive lacquered coffin, lay in the central hallway of the last row of buildings, almost at the threshold of the room in which he was found dead. A band of musicians from Peking, playing the ancient instruments of the old capital, was posted before the outer door, raising a plaintive fanfare at the approach of each caller who passed within to make the three ceremonial bows before the coffin and receive the return of salutations from the kneeling chief mourners.

It was 9:45 a.m. when a salute of nineteen guns, followed by two long blasts upon the bugle, announced the moving of the late Tuchun's coffin from the state chamber to a more central position in the yamen, where the huge crimson and gilded catafalque was placed about it and the carrying poles were slung.

The vanguard of the procession, a troop of mounted men bearing Chinese flag pennants, had moved off three-quarters of an hour previously, the different sections of the entourage falling in behind. These last were led off by a hundred men carrying long banners bearing eulogistic inscriptions; then came a succession of huge paper figures and images, one part of these representing an entire troop of escorting cavalry. Numerous tablets bearing the Tuchun's titles followed, together with a long succession of ceremonial umbrellas and images fashioned from cedar branches. Then mounted police, Chinese boy scouts and school children, followed by the Tuchun's ceremonial sedan chair, bearing his photograph, and then a troup of Buddhist monks from Tientsin.

PRESIDENT SENDS TABLET

Another sedan chair, an elaborate affair of bamboo and gilt tassled silk carried the framed copy of the First Order of Merit, conferred by the President, who also sent for use in the funeral ceremony a tablet, bearing four big characters written by himself and meaning "The Pillar of State." This tablet was carried in a specially constructed yellow sedan chair.

Followed more Buddhist monks—these from Nanking monasteries—then a long file of bearers carrying medals and orders which Li had gained in his official career. Infantrymen and gendarmes, all wearing black armbands, formed detachments now and again and bands—using the modern complement of instruments or those of strictly Chinese character—furnished music at intervals throughout the length of the parade. There was section after section of bearers of laudatory scrolls and tablets sent in testimonial of their regard by the friends of the deceased official, and a profusion of evergreen wreaths, also with inscriptions in praise of the departed.

Some of Li's Awards of Honor

Taoist Priests from Tientsin: A Colorful Group

A group of gorgeously clad priests swung censers of incense while others filled the air with showers of paper cash to propitiate the spirits of the neighborhood just in advance of the final section of the procession.

AMERICAN SAILORS MARCH

It was just in the lead of this section also, as it wound down the road before the Naval College, that a company of American bluejackets from the U. S. gunboat Elcano swung into the line, with the American flag at their head.

Another company of British sailors joined also and a detachment from the Chinese gunboats. These naval units proceeded as far as the ferry.

The last section of the parade was led by a party of a score of high military and civil officials and prominent friends of Li Shun. Included in this delegation were Gen. Kung Ban-tao, Defense Commissioner of Kiangning and Commander of the 12th Brigade, 6th Division; Brigadier-General Lu Feng-shu, of the 11th Brigade; Major-General Wang Kwei-ling, director of Kiangsu Police; Brigadier-General Li Dien-chen, of the 3rd Mixed Brigade; Brigadier-General Wu Heng-chan, of the 4th Mixed Brigade; Chief Commander Wang Dzen-fei, of the Nanking Military Police; Brigadier-General Tu I-chang, commander of the yamen body guard; Brigadier-General Wang Kai-ching, of the 21st Brigade; Col. Chu Shih-wen, of Li Shun's staff and Major Wang Yi.

Among the civilians were Mr. S. T. Wen, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, and Mr. Wang En-pei, Director of Salt Smuggling Prohibition, who was in charge of the railway transportation for the funeral party from Pukow to the North.

OFFICIALS MUCH ON FOOT

All of those named were active in the arrangements for Sunday's affair. The majority of them went afoot with the procession for the first stage of the march, as far as the Government Teachers' College, then took carriages, or a special train from the Kiangning Station, and went ahead to meet the body at the ferry.

This group of marchers was followed by a company of twenty boys, clad in white satin gowns, who bore "white willow" sprays, made of tissue paper.

After them walked the chief mourners, led by Major-General Li Kwei-ling, Li Shun's brother, and the former's young son, Li Ming-kuan, who becomes by adoption Li Shun's son. The blank white "mourner's tablet" followed the mourners and behind it slowly moved the great red and gilt bulk of the catafalque, with its dragon-headed carrying pole, lifted on the shoulders of thirty-two bearers wearing green embroidered gowns and orange plumed hats. Another thirty-two marched alongside to take over the burden in turn. The bearers were brought specially to Nanking from Tientsin.

Tablet written by President Hsu

And everywhere, the crowd, billowing up to and straining against the deadline marked by the police, forming deep backwashes in the side streets opening off the line of march, perched on compound walls and roofs and jamming the upper stories of tea shops and business places as the route burrowed down into the commercial district with its higher buildings.

The Drum Tower, still resplendent in the new red coating of paint given it in honor of the recent visiting congressmen, furnished a coign of vantage for hundreds and the railway embankment, where it touched the course followed by the cortege, was tiered with humanity like the walls of an amphitheater. Most picturesque of all perhaps in this respect, however, were the sides of "The Hill of the North Pole Temple." Rising in a steep slope above the roadway, the paths and ledges formed irregularly isolated observation posts for a host composed largely of young girls, whose brightly colored costumes stood out in brilliant splotches against the green, while stationed on jutting outports of race in silhouette against the sky a detail of military police leaned upon their rifles.

AMERICA PAYS RESPECTS

Prominent among those paying their respects to the memory of the late Tuchun were the official representatives of Admiral Albert Gleaves, Commander of the American Asiatic Fleet. As the Admiral's personal representatives Captain T. A. Kearney, Commander of the Yangtsze Patrol, and his aide, Lieut. F. E. Stack, journeyed to Nanking last week and were present at the Tuchun's yamen, accompanied by American Consul John Davis, at the beginning of both the first and second periods of mourning. The American gunboat Elcano, bluejackets from which marched in Sunday's parade, also made the trip to Nanking under Capt. C. McCauley, especially for the ceremonies.

Behind the coffin came Mm. Li Wong-sz, widow of the Tuchun, and other female relatives riding in white draped carriages. Li's other widow, Li Sung-sz, was in Tientsin indisposed.

NINETEEN HALTS MADE

In the course of the procession stops were made at nineteen special sacrificial altars erected beneath bamboo and evergreen archways by officials, groups of professional men and organisations of the city and province. A halt of three minutes was made at each of these points, signalised by the firing of three guns, and representatives of those erecting the altar made the funeral sacrifice, the chief mourner also participating in the ceremony, on Kneeling.

ACTING SUCCESSOR TAKES PA

The first of these altars was that set up in East Yamen Street by Civil Governor Chi Yao-san and other executive officials of the province. The procession then passed beneath a handsome ornamental arch erected by the Y.M.C.A., carrying aloft the Y.M.C.A. Triangle and an inscription in tribute to the dead governor, and came to the altar set up by order of the Acting Military-Governor, Chi Shih-yuen, who, surrounded by his staff, here took his only part in the ceremony.

The other altars were erected by the members of the Nanking press, gentry of the Central, Eastern, Southern, Western and Northern districts of the city; the Government educational bodies Provincial police, commercial guilds, the Provincial military authorities and other organisations.

The route of march was from the yamen West Gate, passing round the Ta-hsin-kung and heading north-westward toward the ferry, passing in order the Nanking Teachers' College, the Agricultural Experimental Station, the Peichikuo Hills, the Drum Tower, the Exposition Ground Street, British Consulate, Naval College, and thence by the Yi Fung Gate of Nanking City and Klangkou to the ferry.

BODY FERRIED TO PUKOW

The coffin arrived at the ferry at about 1:30 p.m. received the nineteen-gun salute, and was immediately placed upon a barge and towed across the Yangtsze by a Chinese river gunboat which carried over also the mourners and close personal friends of the late Military Governor, bands and a military escort.

From Pukow after the paper offerings had been burned, the body started by special train for Tientsin, accompanied by the relatives and a military escort. Stops were to be made at Tsinanfu, Hsuchowfu and Pengpu for special sacrificial ceremonies to be made and it was expected that the funeral train would arrive in Tientsin today.

CROWN OFFICERS IN CORK UNDER THREAT OF DEATH

were called in and obliged to use violence in the funeral van, ejecting a man and two ladies, one of whom was Miss MacSwiney. The body was subsequently removed to the steamer, which conveyed a large armed escort, the members of the Irish party declining to go on board.

As the vessel steamed out, the members of the party were seen on their knees in prayer, led by Father Dominic, who chanted the De Profundis.

BURIAL AT CORK

London, October 29.—The burial of Mr. MacSwiney will take place at Cork on Sunday. The authorities have notified the Deputy-Lord Mayor and the Bishop of Cork that military display will not be permitted at the funeral and that drilling uniforms and volunteer badges must not be displayed.

The Government's prohibition of the landing of Mr. MacSwiney's remains at Dublin was due to the risk of political demonstrations which might possibly result in the loss of innocent lives.

ARRIVAL OF BODY

London, October 30.—An Associated Press message from Cork reports the arrival there of the relatives of the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney and other members of the funeral party who refused to board the vessel which conveyed the remains from Holyhead to Queenstown. Among them were Mr. Arthur Griffith and Count Plunkett.

Washington, October 31.—According to an Associated Press telegram from Dublin, two policemen who tried to stop a motor-car at Coltooney (?) in County Sligo, were shot. In reprisal six farmhouses were partly destroyed by fire.

CORK IS QUIET

Cork, October 30.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney's remains have been landed here and conveyed to the City Hall, where the coffin will be on view tomorrow. No disorders have occured.

London, October 29.—The outrage at Bothwell caused a great sensation in the locality. Later details show that the constable who was seriously wounded was shot twice and then brutally kicked while lying on the ground.

The police have secured proof that the outrage was the work of Sinn Feiners, and it seems that the two policemen unwittingly interrupted a Sinn Fein raid for arms on the drill-hall of the Scottish Rifles.

Cincinatti, Oct. 28.—Governor Cox replying to a questioner, declared that Lord Mayor MacSwiney had "died as a martyr."

HOME RULE BILL UP

London, October 29.—The House of Commons was today occupied with the Home Rule bill, which passed the Committee stage but a number of important questions were left to the report stage, including the clause providing that candidates for election must take the oath of allegiance.

At the opening of the proceedings the attendance in the House was very thin, which necessitated a count. The discussion was very quiet, as the Labor Party and the Independent Liberals did not take part after the defeat of their amendment in favor of a single Parliament.

Japanese Observe Emperor's Birthday

New Minister To Tokio And Local Officials Call At Consulate

The birthday of the Emperor of Japan was observed yesterday by the Japanese community, and local officials and prominent residents, foreign and Chinese, called at the Japanese Consulate-General, where Consul-General Yamazuki was "at home" to visitors.

Among those present at the Consular reception was Mr. Hu Wei-teh, the new Chinese minister to Tokio, who leaves Shanghai for his new post by the Kamo Maru tomorrow. Most of the foreign Consuls, a number of members of the Municipal Council and other officials, civil and military attended, among them Rear-Admiral Yoshida, Commander of the Japanese naval squadron abroad, with his staff. Among the prominent Chinese who were present were Mr. Tang Shao-yi, Dr. Wu Ting-fang, Mr. Ivan Chen, Mr. Chung Mun-yew and Mr. Wang I-ting.

LINE FROM URGA TO PEKING OPEN

Government Reports Of Strife With Russian Forces Are Confirmed

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, October 31.—Telegraphic communication between Peking and Urga has been restored but the line is being used exclusively for military purposes.

Reuter learns however, that later telegrams confirm the Government's early telegrams with regard to fighting on October 26 but show that the Russians returned to Urga and prepared a fresh attack. Chinese reinforcements arrived from Dolon-nor, Udde and Chahar on October 29 and participated in further fighting under General Chu Chih-hsiang.

The Russians attacked from the east, west and north. They were driven back on the east and west but retained their positions on the north and also the villages of Tamou and Tuching, which they are apparently using as bases.

SAYS PEACE RESTORED

A telegram from Chang Ching-hsuai, Tutung of Chahar, reports that the Russians were driven back on the north, that peace has been restored at Urga and that the Chamber of Commerce is giving a banquet in honor of the reinforcements but it is not known whether this telegram refers to the situation prior to or after the above-mentioned engagement.

Wrangel Intends To Continue Fight To Save Russians

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, October 30.—According to official despatches from the Crimea, General Wrangel on receiving M. de Martel, the French High Commissioner, said: "We are determined to continue the struggle to the end, not because we are animated by warlike sentiments, but with the object of liberating the Russian people from the tyranny by which it is oppressed, and of enabling it freely to decide its future destiny.

M. de Martel replied that France was equally resolved to give Russia all the moral support and material assistance possible.

FERRIER MAKES LOW SCORE IN QUALIFYING ROUND OF 1920 GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Lack Of Sensations Marks Play—Cumming Plays Well In Afternoon—Rain Renders Morning Round Uncertain—Dr. Murray In First Sixteen

By "Midiron"

Playing steady and consistent golf in both the morning and afternoon sessions of the qualifying rounds, Shanghai Golf Club 1920 championship on Sunday, Mr. J. B. Ferrier ("Binnie") came home well in the lead of a large field with the excellent score of 152 on the day. His nearest opponents, Messrs. (Dr.) N. H. Bolton and K. M. Cumming, were seven strokes behind him.

Mr. Ferrier did his best bit of work in the morning round, despite the fact that a drizzle of rain was falling when the big field started on its way to local fame—or seasonal oblivion, so far as championships were concerned.

Coupled with J. G. Dickie, the low-score man went around the course in 74, while Mr. Bolton took five strokes more for the distance and Mr. Cumming could not do better than a rather unsteady 81. Mr. Ferrier was at his best on a bad lie, almost invariably pulling himself out when least expected.

CUMMING CAME BACK

Mr. Cumming came back with a vengeance in the afternoon and turned in a card which tied Mr. Ferriers (78) for first honors in the post-tiffin engagement. Dr. Bolton and Mr. G. A. Stewart each turned in an eighty; but the latter had had a bit of hard luck in the morning and was compelled to content himself with a tie for third place.

Of the others who qualified Col. R. Marr Johnson seemed to exhibit the most prettily rounded game, even though he did "blow up" a trifle in the afternoon and, with Mr. J. S. McEachren, barely nosed himself into the qualifying round by the margin of one point over W. S. Clay, who "nosed himself out" by just that amount.

CAPT. DEWAR REMAINS

Captain J. Dewar, holder of the championship, was quite a way off from the top of his game and was hard put to hold himself together, especially after running up to 85 on the morning round. But he recovered in grand shape in the afternoon; and, while finishing 15 points behind the lead man, kept himself in the controversy with a splendid 82.

Dr. (J. E. Murray, around whose defenceless head a controversy has been waging for some time past, was evidently thrown off his game by the embroglio and had a bad day, showing up with a total of 178, amongst the "also rans."

The following are the scores:

	1st round	2nd round	Total
J. B. Ferrier	74	78	152

13 Are Indicted For Baseball Fraud

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Chicago, October 30.—The Federal Grand Jury which has been investigating the charges of corruption in connection with baseball has returned two indictments, charging 13 persons with operating a "confidence game" conspiracy in connection with the fixing of the 1919 world's championship series.

Those indicated are: Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson, Claude Williams, Fred McMullin, George Weaver, Oscar Felsch, Charles Risberg, of the White Sox, Chicago, American League Club; Chick Gandil, Hal Chase, Abe Attell, the ex-boxer; Joseph Sullivan and Charles Brown, of New York.

ALL SOULS DAY

Today will be observed as All Souls Day by Roman Catholic churches throughout the world. Low masses will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Church, on Rue Montauban, at 6, 7 and 8 o'clock.

Yesterday was All Saints Day, a holy day of obligation. Low mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's Church at 6, 7 and 8 o'clock and high mass was sung at 10 o'clock. There were large congregations at all the masses. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given.

CORRECT SCORE OF SWIM MEET SHOWS CHANGE

Siemssen Of "Y" Captures Five Out Of Six Races Against St. John's

A series of unfortunate errors crept into the report of the St. John's-Shanghai "Y" swimming meet, published in THE CHINA PRESS on Sunday morning, due to a mistake in (or misunderstanding of) the method of recording the results. Thus, where the successful contestants had the figures "1," "2" and "3" opposite their names, the scorer meant the number of points they had scored and not the order in which they had finished; where as they were, not unnaturally, taken to mean "First," "Second" and "Third."

This makes a great difference in the final scores, as may be easily seen, and renders quite remarkable the showing of Siemssen, of the "Y" team, who scored no less than five wins and a third out of six starts, besides participating with the "Y" team in the relay victory at the close of the program.

THE CHINA PRESS is glad to make immediate and complete voluntary correction of the erroneous report and to append herewith the corrected scores of the meet, as follows:

1—20-Yard Swim—(1) Siemssen, (Y); (2) C. Ozorio, (Y); (3) Barkus, (Y).

2—60-Yard Swim—(1) C. D. Zung, (S. J.); (2) Koo, (S. J.); (3) Ling, (S. J.).

3—100-Yard Swim—(1) Siemssen, (Y); (2) Ling, (S. J.); (3) Cruz, (Y). Time—1.:17 1-5s.

4—20-Yard under-water Swim—(1) C. Ozorio, (Y); (2) Woo, (S. J.); (3) C. S. Wang, (Y). Time—14 sec.

5—220-Yard Swim—(1) Siemssen, (Y); (2) Barkus, (Y); (3) Koo, (S. J.). Time—3:21 3-5

6—60-Yard Swim—(1) Siemssen, (Y); (2) Jensen, (Y); (3) H. Collaco, (Y). Time—44.

7—Plunge for Distance—(1) C. Ozorio, (Y) (42ft. 3in.); (2) Koo, (S. J.); (3) Siemssen, (Y).

8—440-Yard Swim—(1) Siemssen, (Y); (2) C. Ozorio, (Y); (3) Zung, (S. J.).

9—Relay—(1) Y.M.C.A. Team—H. Collaco, Barkus, Jensen, Siemssen, Ozorio.

Total Points: St. Johns 14, Y.M.C.A. 37.

INTERPORT RUGBY

An interport rugby match has been arranged to take place at Tientsin next Saturday between the Tientsin and Peking rugby football clubs, says the North China Star.

The Tientsin players are practicing hard during this week and hope that a good game and a victory will be put up against the Peking Team.

Race Club Mourns Passing Of Fearon

At the termination of the extraordinary general meeting of voting members of the Shanghai Race Club yesterday evening, the Chairman, Mr. W. S. Jackson, sympathetically referred to the death of Mr. James Fearon, who had been Chairman of the Shanghai Municipal Council and Chairman and Steward of the Race Club for many years; and who was mainly responsible for the conversion of the wilderness within the Race Course into the splendid playing grounds we have today.

An expression of regret at Mr. Fearon's demise was recorded, and the stewards' and members' sympathy was extended to his widow, Mrs. J. S. Fearon; his daughter, Mrs C. R. Burkill; and his son, Mr. F. L. Fearon.

The meeting was exceptionally well attended, there being about 100 voting members present.

Weather Man Stops Big Chin Woo Meet

On account of the weather, the Chin Woo Athletic Association program was postponed till next Sunday. Mr. Chen Kung-chi, one of the founders of the association and his sister Miss Chen Shih-chao, as well as representatives from Southern Chin Woo branches have arrived in Shanghai. They will participate in the program on Sunday.

PLAN TO START FIELD OF 19 IN ST. LEGER

The Curlew Still Favored, But Many Other Good Ponies Have Their Friends

By virtue of his decisive win against a good field in the St. Leger Stake at Kiangwan last Saturday, Winsome and Hasty's calico pony, The Curlew, is still greatly favored to win the Shanghai St. Leger next Monday afternoon.

There are, however, several ponies in the list of probable starters which will have their backers.

Allied King, winner of the Hongkong Derby last spring, with Mr. W. G. Crokam a likely rider, will undoubtedly be favored; as will Setchfield, with either Mr. Morriss or Mr. Heard in the saddle.

KNOLL IS COMING

Jockey A. Knoll is expected to arrive in Shanghai on Friday, on board the Empress of Asia, and is likely to have the mount on Messrs. Toeg and Gubbay's dun, Djemnah, in the classic.

The other probable starters, with their probable riders, are as follows:

Winsome and Hasty's chestnut, The Merlin (Arnhold-; Potts and Hayim's black, Comedy King (——); Messrs. Toeg and Gubbay's chestnut, Churchill (Ezra); Mr. Hulthen's roan, Belted Will (Moller); Mr. Henry Morriss's chestnut, Letchfield (——); Mr. John Peel's white, High Tide (Johnson); Messrs. Logan and Macgregor's cream, The Farmer (Sweeting); Messrs. C. and H. White's dun, King's Cross (Dalgleish); Messrs. Gubbay and Hickling's grey, Exchequer Bill (Bremner); Mr. William McBain's bay, Langaza (Brand); roan, Strumn (Vida); Mr. J. F. Macgregor's dun, Strathfarrar (——); and Mr. J. P. B. Eastwood's bay, Bachelor Tax (——).

SHANGHAI TRI-PORT TEAM OF CRICKETERS EMBARKS IN QUEST OF 1920 TITLE

Matches To Begin Next Saturday—Hongkong Team Is Weak On Defence, Says "Googly"—Not Much Known Here Concerning Singapore Eleven

The Shanghai cricket eleven which is to represent the International Settlement in the Tri-Port Championships for 1920 at Hongkong, beginning on Saturday next, departed for the Crown Colony late yesterday evening on the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Japan. They should arrive at their destination early Thursday morning, in ample time for leg-stretching and a bit of practice before the matches actually begin.

The make-up of the team which will oppose Hongkong and the Straits Settlements in the forthcoming matches reads as follows:

H. W. Allison, C. Brook, W. C. J. Clifford, P. H. Cobb, D. W. P. McMeekin, H. B. Ollerdessen, A. E. Piercey, Rev. C. E. Spencer, F. L. Wainwright (Captain), R. R. Grimshaw.

Mr. Grimshaw travels with the team as 12th man and will also act as Secretary to the team during their stay in Hongkong. Mr. McMeekin will not leave Shanghai with the team, but he is expected to meet them in Hongkong as he is on his way up from Singapore, where he has been to meet his wife and child from England.

The announcement of the schedule for the Tri-port matches has not yet been made by the Hongkong Cricket Club; which, as host, will have charge of the arrangements. It is not yet known, therefore, whether the "Irresistibles"—which title we hope the Shanghai team will come to deserve—will be called upon to play next Saturday or not.

It will depend, we presume, upon whether the team from the Straits Settlements—the personnel of which is given below—reaches Hongkong before or after the Shanghai eleven. The one which has the greater time for relaxation and practice will probably be chosen to oppose the Crown Colony XI in the first of the four matches for the championship of the Far East.

Discussing the prospects for a good Hongkong team, in the South China Morning Post of the 26th ultimo, "Googly" writes as follows:

"It will be disappointing to local cricketers that H. E. Muriel, formerly one of the mainstays of the H.K.C.C., and now in Shanghai, will not be one of Shanghai's inter-port cricketers to visit us. . . .

"Two other good Shanghai players who cannot make the trip are A. W. Hayward and Dr. W. E. O'Hara. It is no doubt disheartening to the northerners: but it was ever thus. Hongkong's turn will come. . . .

"Of our own trial on Saturday, Hancock, Turner, Edwards, Davies and Franks, all amongst the very probable, came up to expectations. Pearce, Sayer and Bird, regarded as so indispensable that their trial showing does not matter, had a day off. A. E. Wood's return to form was very pleasing to all his friends, and I include him again in those who ought to represent us.

"Another good performance was E. L. Braga's. As reserve wicket-keeper and useful batsman he is entitled to consideration. If he is given a place, it leaves only one vacancy, to my mind, and for that we must have a bowler—a consistent bowler not lacking in pace.

"The team promises to be a slow fielding side and without a sound bowling department it will see

Chinese Eastern Directors Will Meet Again Thursday

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 1.—The meeting of the shareholders of the Chinese Eastern Railway will probably be resumed on Thursday. The Chinese directors are taking part in the meeting although they have not been elected by the shareholders.

The difficulties which were anticipated with regard to the election of the Russian directors appear to have vanished. The question was that the Chinese desired the election of certain Russians whereas the Russians quoted Article 2 of the new agreement, which gives the Russians freedom to elect their own directors.

LENGTHY MEETING

Peking, October 31.—A lengthy meeting of the shareholders of the Chinese Eastern Railway this afternoon is still discussing the reorganisation of the Railway. The meeting will probably be further postponed without the election of Russian directors, which is its most important business and upon which the whole future co-operation under the new agreement depends.

PEKING TAKES ACTION

Peking, October 31.—The Ministry of Justice has ordered the formation of a Commission under the chairmanship of the Vice-Minister of Justice, to deal with the question of Russian Courts in the Chinese Eastern Railway zone and has also sent the Peking Superintendent of Prisons to Harbin to reorganise the Chinese prisons in the same zone.

Today Election Day In U.S. Republican Victory Probable

Senator in 1914 when Senator Burton refused to run.

RESULTS HERE WEDNESDAY

Results of the election should reach Shanghai early Wednesday night as polls will close at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Shanghai time. Voting in the East will be concluded four hours earlier and returns from Eastern States will probably be picked up by wireless early Wednesday afternoon.

TREND TOWARDS DEMOCRATS

London, Oct. 30.—Three weeks ago it was regarded as a dead certainty that the American Presidential election would result in a victory for the Republican candidate, Senator Harding, and a hopeless beating for Governor Cox, the democratic nominee. Since then there has been an extraordinary change in the situation. In the first place, Senator Harding's uncompromising repudiation of the League of Nations has amazed the country and staggered numerous Republican supporters, while his subsequent explanations are regarded as lame and unsatisfying. Then a cartoon parodying Raphael's "Immaculate Conception" has outraged the Roman Catholics, and has necessitated full public apologies.

APPEAL FROM WILSON

Finally, a pathetic appeal from President Wilson, who, though ill and suffering, made a speech from his invalid chair, has touched popular emotions, wonderfully heartened the Democrats, and produced a wonderful reaction in his favor.

Consequently, it is predicted in influential quarters that the republicans are likely to lose the Senate, and this would make Senator Harding's election a pyrrhic victory. The present Republican majority in the Senate is only two.

HARDING CLOSES CAMPAIGN

Cincinatti, October 30.—Senator Harding conferred with the Ohio Republicans here today and will make the last speech of his campaign tonight. He has made over 170 speeches since he was nominated.

Chicago, October 23.—The Democrat National Headquarters has challenged the Republican Headquarters to a debate on the League of Nations, in Chicago on Sunday.

The National Executive Committee of the Socialists has made a statement denouncing the Republicans and Democrats for their policy of conquest. It was declared that voters should not forget the example the Republicans set in their conquest of Hawaii and the Philippines, and Democratic rule in Haiti and San Domingo.

WILSON ISSUES STATEMENT

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Wilson has written to Governor Cox, declaring that he has followed the course of the Presidential campaign with admiration and that he believed that Governor Cox would receive the emphatic endorsement of the voters of the country.

In conclusion he said that Governor Cox had spoken truly and fearlessly on the great issues at stake and expressed his entire confidence in him.

REPUBLICAN EXPENSES

New York, Oct. 28.—According to the report presented by the treasurer of the Republican party to the Senate Committee appointed to investigate the expenditure on the Presidential campaign, the Republican National Committee's expenditure came to $3,443,000.

The treasurer of the Democratic National Committee claims that the expenditure of his party has amounted to only $879,000 up to the present.

U.S. Shipping Board Boat Sinks; 17 Lost

(Reuter's Service)

Newport, R.I., October 30.—The concrete steamer Cape Fear, belonging to the Shipping Board, has sunk in the deepest part of Narragansett Bay, as the result of a collision with the Savannah line steamer City of Atlanta. Seventeen, out of the crew numbering 34 lost their lives. The vessel sank in three minutes.

Hearing Postponed In F. G. Boulon Case

Adjournment Until Friday Is Granted By United States Commissioner

Preminary hearing of the case brought against Ferdinand G. Boulon by Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, in which embezzlement of some Tls. 20,000 is alleged, was ordered adjourned until Friday by United States Commissioner F. J. Schuhl yesterday.

The request for a remand was made by Mr. R. S. Haskell, counsel for the defendant, who stated that he was not yet ready to go to trial and that his client did not intend to waive his right to a preliminary hearing. Mr. W. S. Fleming appeared for the complainants.

Casualties In Haiti Lower Than Reported

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 28.—General Barnett, ex-Commandant of the United States Marine Corps, giving evidence before the Naval Court of Inquiry into the conditions attaching to the occupation of Haiti by the United States forces, said that 2,250 natives were killed during the occupation, and not 3,250, as previously stated. The erroneous announcement was, he said, due to a mistake in addition.

Adriatic Question To Come Up Soon

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, October 29.—It is semi-officially announced that direct negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia for the solution of the Adriatic problem will open in the first fortnight at November. Both countries will be represented by their Premiers and other Ministers.

GRECIAN THRONE NOT YET TAKEN

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 30.—The situation with regard to the throne of Greece is full of uncertainty. The crown has been conditionally offered to Prince Paul but up to the present there are no signs that it will be accepted.

Rumors are current from Lucerne, where the ex-King Constantine is residing, that the conditions, attached to Prince Paul's accession, will not be accepted and, if they proved to be accurate, it would not create much surprise.

London, October 29.—The Athens correspondent of the Times, in announcing the election of Admiral Condouritis as Regent, adds that he was a former member of the Salonica Provisional Government. After the election the Chamber was dissolved.

Ricsha Mission Reports Healthy Progress For Year

An answer to the oft-repeated question, "Are Chinese Sunday schools making any impression on the child-life of China?" has been provided in the case of the Ricsha Mission.

During the last seven years this mission, which devotes its efforts largely to the families of ricsha coolies and the waifs of the community, has averaged an attendance of more than 800.

"The street-arabs," says a report made public yesterday, "quickly acquire the measure of cleanliness and obedience necessary for admission to the indoor schools, and often become instrumental in bringing others into the school."

Supporters Of Korea Organise In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 27.—A meeting was held at the House of Commons yesterday with a view to establishing a League of Friends of Korea in Great Britain. Sir Robert Newman, M. P. for Exeter, presided, and among the speakers was Mr. F. A. Mackenzie, the well-known war correspondent, and author of "The Tragedy of Korea."

Prince Arthur Sails For Post In Africa

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, October 29.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, accompanied by Princess Alexandra and their son, left for South Africa today to take up his duties as Governor-General. The Prince of Wales, and other members of the Royal Family, numbers of court officials and other prominent personages were present at the station and the docks to bid him farewell.

Shanghai Tri-Port Cricketers Embark

Shanghai make a lot of runs. All of our bowling talent has not yet been tried. We should like to see Peatonji or Omar tested.

"Middlemas, too, seems to have been dropped, with one or two others who, the general opinion is, might have been seen out again."

From this it will be seen that Hongkong is preparing to place main reliance upon its batsmen, having now too much faith in the "defense corps" of the team. Shanghai, a bit weak on defense herself, will thus be on more or less even terms with the Crown Colony crowd.

The personnel of the Straits Settlements team is announced from Hongkong as follows:

Name	Club
F. H. J. Caryll	Singapore
A. A. Claxton	Singapore
N. Grenier	Perak
N. A. M. Griffin	Singapore
Major F. H. Gunner	Singapore
Dr. H. P. Hennessy	Selangor
A. E. Holman Brown	Selangor
Dr. W. W. Martin	Penang
H. O. Mitchell	Singapore
V. E. H. Rhodes	Selangor
E. J. Riches	Singapore
L. A. Tucker	Selangor

It will be noticed that there are twelve players of whom six are from Singapore, four from Selangor and one each from Perak and Penang. The team is accompanied by Mr. V. J. Coleman as scorer and Mr. T. P. Halliwell as umpire.

Obituary

Famine At New World Fete Draws 10,000

Samples Of Sufferers "Food" Seen Here

Concoction Starving Millions Are Eating Often Proves Fatal

When the members of the Chinese and Foreign Famine Relief committee concluded their regular weekly meeting at the old German club last evening the hour was so late that the dinner appetites of the committeemen had tapered down to a razor like edge.

Observing the distress of his fellow committeemen Mr. C. Y. Sun, of Tientsin, ordered some packages brought into the room. These he opened with the announcement that they contained food, and that all were welcome to step forward and help themselves.

Many of the committee members stepped forward, but they immediately turned around and stepped right back again, for the "food" proved to be samples of the stuff that millions of famine sufferers in the Northern provinces are forced to consume as the only alternative to death from starvation.

"FOOD" OFTEN FATAL

As food, the wretched concoction exhibited to the committeemen is absolute zero. It contains no ingredients except roots, weeds and wild grasses, and is totally lacking in nourishment. Mr. Sun explained to his astonished associates on the relief committee that this "food" is more conducive to a fatal ending than starvation itself, and that the evil results of eating it constituted one of the grave problems with which the famine relief workers are forced to contend.

Mr. Sun, who arrived yesterday from the North, where he has been in close contact with the famine situation for several weeks, told the Famine Relief committee of the growing intensity of the widespread distress that is sweeping through the northern provinces and again urged the utmost haste as the only means of saving tens of thousands of lives.

SUFFERING GROWS

"The actual suffering in the North is daily growing worse," said Mr. Sun. "Those who have not seen the ruin and misery with their own eyes cannot imagine how intensely the poor creatures there are suffering, or gain even an approximate idea of the greater agonies that must surely descend upon them with the coming of winter. We must hurry in our efforts to relieve them, as every hour of delay means the loss of countless lives."

At yesterday's meeting of the Famine relief committee the subcommittee on distribution, of which Messrs. W. E. Souter and J. Lo Pa Hong are chairmen, submitted recommendations for expenditures aggregating $100,000, and these were approved by the committee. The recommendations follow:

SUB-COMMITTEE'S REPORT

(1) We recommend that this Sub-Committee be instructed to inform the other Famine Relief Committees throughout China of all grants made by us to specific famine districts, and that we request those other Famine Relief Committees to keep us informed of all their grants for relief work, together with any other information that will enable us to work in co-operation and so prevent over-lapping as well as insure that no sections of the famine area are overlooked in the scheme of distribution.

(2) After a careful consideration of the many appeals from famine area we note the following recommendations.

(a) A grant of $30,000.00 to the Siaochang district where there are four million people and the majority in great suffering. There is an efficient Committee under foreign supervision. This appeal is endorsed by the North China Famine Relief Committee and C. Y. Sun Esq..

(b) We feel that the distress in Shensi is such the $50,000.00 should be sent there and we ask that this money be set aside for Shensi. Telegrams have been sent enquiring as to exact conditions. Before the money is sent a joint satisfactory Committee must be formed and the money only remitted through reliable and responsible people who will distribute relief in the whole province.

(c) We recommend that $20,000.00 be remitted to Chengtinfu, Chili, where there is great distress and we have wired to see if a joint Committee with foreign supervision can be arranged. It was further agreed to recommend that 5,000 warm garments be sent to this district where there was many famine refugees. This will cost about $2.50 per suit, say $12,500.00.

TO DISCUSS UNION

At either the next regular meeting of the relief committee or a special meeting sometime this week the important question of joining forces with other relief organisations will be taken up. At yesterday's gathering an invitation from the Tientsin organisation was extended to the Shanghai committee to unite forces, and while the general sentiment at yesterday's session seemed to favor this move it was finally decided to let the matter go over for decision later.

Mr. W. A. B. Nichols expressed the hope that all the relief organisations could be united, and pointed out that for the Shanghai and Tientsin committees to unite would be at least one step toward the highly desirable concentration of effort which all admit is necessary to insure the highest efficiency in relief work. He also emphasized the point that help from abroad would not be forthcoming until a central organisation became an established fact in China, principally for the reason that other countries would not send help until they knew who to send it to.

At five o'clock this afternoon the newly appointed relief committee of the Shanghai Advertising club will meet at the German club to discuss ways and means of speeding up the campaign for funds. At this meeting the work of the general committee to date will be outlined in order that the Ad men may know what has been done so far and what is expected of them. The Ad men have promised to instill a large amount of "pep" into the drive for funds in Shanghai.

Much More Money Needed To Allay Suffering In North

Contributions to the North China Famine Relief Fund from Shanghai subscribers have reached a total of Mex. $351,566.89, Taels 41,737.39 and G.$15.80. A tremendous amount of money is needed if the needs of the millions who are suffering from the drought in the stricken regions are to be given relief.

Subscriptions may be sent to the treasurers:

British Owners To Get 40 More Ships Taken From Germany

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, October 29.—Lord Inchcape is offering a further 40 ex-enemy ships to British owners. It is understood that they constitute the residue of the more important ships allotted to Great Britain by the Reparations Commission. Including the above, up to the present 42 passenger and 115 cargo steamers have been offered to British shipowners.

Siamese Prince Visits New York

New York, October 27.—Prince Purachatra of Siam is at present visiting New York in order to study American railway methods. Twenty-one Siamese engineers are already working in various parts of the United States with the same object.

New World Thronged With Patrons For Opening Day Of Big Benefit

Fully 10,000 spectators witnessed the entertainment of the Shanghai Merchants' Famine Relief Association given yesterday at the New World, Nanking and Thibet Roads. The entertainments will be continued today and tomorrow. More than 26,000 tickets, which sell at $1 each, have already been disposed of by the members of the Federation of Street Unions, it was announced last night.

The Northern half of the park was a scene of brilliant color last night, with streams of people meandering through the illuminated paths among the picturesque berths and stands. Many attractions featured the fete.

A brief description of the 12 principal events in the garden was given on aboard at the gate over which flew the Stars and Stripes and the Five-Barred National Flag of China, as well as smaller flags of all friendly nations. Thousands of the electric lamps, lanterns and banners decorated the halls and exits.

The Nantao Police Band and the Orchestra of the Kiangwan Orphanage played and the boy scouts maintained order on the grounds. In the main yard was erected a seven-storied pagoda, termed by the committee "The Life Saving Tower," constructed by Cantonese carpenters with huge bamboo poles, bunting and illuminated by hundreds of electric globes.

At the foot of the pagoda the scene of the famine stricken districts and the sufferings of the starving people were grafically depicted by Chinese amateurs, who in their "made-up" characters, wailed, cried and appealed pitifully for alms and food as the spectators generously contributed their shares towards the relief fund.

There were also a "Life-Saving Boat" and a raffle for various useful articles contributed by their agents. All the proceeds will go to the famine relief fund. The sing song girls backed out at the eleventh hours because of the attitude taken by the students of some of the girls' schools in Shanghai. The latter refused to participate on the ground that they did not care to mingle with the entertainers.

The sing song girls, too, withdraw and are planning to give a beneficial performance on the night of the November 6 at the Kwangse Road Theater, China's "Little Theater." They will produce a play entitled the "Emancipation of the Girl of the Underworld."

The famous feminine impersonator, Mei Lai-fang, was seen in a film entitled "The Heavenly Maid's Distribution of Flowers," photographed and screened by the Commercial Press.

The Chiu Kee Amateur Dramatic Club gave a theatrical performance which would have done credit to any professional troupe. The members, besides giving their services, bought their own tickets of admission and furnished relatives and friends with tickets purchased by themselves.

Dances were staged by girls of the Ming Sung Girls' School, the Northern District Girls' School and the Kwan Fan Girls' School.

About 800 young girls and boys participated in the lantern procession, which began in the evening. All kinds of images and banners were carried in the procession, which moved to an accompaniment of snapping firecrackers.

Other features were the Y. M. C. A. School's comic dialogue, acrobatics by the Student Union Free School, juggling by the students of the Shanghai Commercial College, Chinese instrumental music, stilts, slight of hand performances, torch swinging, and boxing.

Several commercial companies sold their articles on the ground and devoted the proceeds to the cause.

New attractions will be added to today's program.

LOAN FROM CONSORTIUM IS NOT YET GRANTED

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 1.—The Government recently suggested to the Old Consortium a loan of $12,000,000, secured on the proposed surtaxes, for famine relief. The Old Consortium banks referred the matter to the New Consortium, simultaneously informing the Government of their action.

The Government replied that it did not recognise the New Consortium, to which one of the main objections appears to be that the Chinese banks do not like industrial loans being included in its scope.

The representatives of the Consortium banking groups at New York have not yet replied.

Meanwhile most of the Powers have agreed to the surtaxes and the concurrence of the others is expected shortly. All stipulate that the period during which the surtaxes may be levied shall not exceed one year.

WORK IN TIENTSIN

Tientsin, Nov. 1.—A vigorous famine relief campaign is being carried on in Tientsin this week. A procession marched through the streets this morning, depicting famine scenes, with bands, banners and collection boxes. Ladies are carrying on house to house visits during the week, selling bronze, silver and gold medals for subscriptions of $10, $100, and $1,000 respectively, which will save one, ten or a hundred lives.

Nevertheless there is no doubt that many foreigners are holding back subscriptions owing to their suspicion of officialdom.

The Peking and Tientsin Times, in a leading article today, emphasises the difficulties of Sino-Foreign co-operation in connection with Famine Relief and other projects. The journal points out that the Chihli Relief Society approached the Consuls in September and requested them to enlist the co-operation of the foreign community.

A large representative Sino-Foreign meeting was convened at which it was decided to amalgamate the foreign and Chinese committees under the title of the "North China International Famine Relief Society." The Chihli Society, however, the journal states, did not fulfil the amalgamation resolution and is continuing to act "independently and wastefully" and "is unquestionably receiving funds intended for the International Society, notably General Li Shun's $500,000 bequest."

The Peking and Tsintsin Times fears that similar difficulties in Sino-Foreign co-operation are occurring at Peking where the Tientsin International Society has been unable to arrange effective co-operation.

The following is the list of Subscriptions to the Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee for the week ending October 31.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. B. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and effic ent laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Plans Are Under Way To Erect Tls. 627,000 Foreign Y.M.C.A Here

institution is set forth. It is pointed out that the rapid growth of the foreign community—now totaling some 18,000 American and European residents—and the increasingly acute housing situation are two factors alone which make imperative demand for some such project. Also that it would furnish club facilities for a great many men who under present conditions are not able to enjoy them, give opportunity for getting healthful exercise and give them agreeable and homelike social surroundings. It would stand as an agency contributing to the moral and spiritual welfare of the community of foreign young men as a whole and as such would also be a potent factor in upbuilding foreign prestige in China.

"Just now," the Committee states, "there seems to be a suspicion among the Chinese that the Y.M.C.A. work is disingenuous because millions are being spent yearly in Christian propaganda among them but nothing apparently is being done for the welfare of our own men. A modern Y.M.C.A. would not only allay this suspicion but would give a big impetus to the whole Association movement in China."

SURVEY IS MADE

A survey has been conducted among the American business houses by requesting an individual report from each foreign employee covering certain headings, which are listed below. Replies have been received, which have been used as the basis for estimating the number of rooms, etc., to be included in the plans. It is anticipated that the number of British interested will equal if not exceed the number of Americans. A summary of the responses to the request for data is as follows. Note that these have been requested, as yet, from American firms only.

Hongs Represented—50.

Married men, 81; single men, 133; women, 10.

Americans, 164; other nationalities 49.

War service men, 76.

Men boarding, 117; men living at home 85.

Living expenses $90 or less 26; $91 to $130, 50; over $130 89.

Expecting to reside in Shanghai permanently 173; temporarily, 25; would want a room at Y.M.C.A., 87.

Letters received from representative organisations and officials show that the appeal has their endorsement.

The plan is to erect a modern Y.M.C.A. building having the usual Association features, namely: gymnasium, pool, auditorium, lounge, spa, library, billiards, club rooms, bowing alleys, reading room, restaurant, etc., and 250 dormitory rooms.

A COMMUNITY CENTER

This building would also serve as a community center, where lectures, social events, discussion groups, etc., could be held. Certain features, such as the gymnasium and swimming pool, would be open at certain hours for women and girls.

It is honed that such organisations as the American Women's Club, the American Athletic Association, the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, would make their headquarters in this building. It would also house, for a number of years at least, the Community Church, now known as the American Song Service, which at the present time has an average weekly attendance of over three hundred.

It is further proposed to have a school for the study of the Chinese language, employing the best facilities and most up-to-date methods, for the use of business men and missionaries.

COST IS TLS. 627,000

The cost of the plant is estimated as follows:

	Tls.
Land, four mow (two-thirds acre)	130,000.00
Main Building, cu. ft. 1,181,250
Gym - Pool Wing ... 215,000
Servants ... 25,000
cu. ft. 1,421,250 at 35 Tael Cents	497,437.00
Total Cost	Tls. 627,437.00

Two thirds of the estimated cost of the building will be for the living quarters and their proportionate share, taken as one half, of the general Association facilities—omitting auditorium and general office space. These dormitories would occupy five floors. The cost of their construction and equipment would be about Taels 1,200 for each of the smaller rooms and Taels 2,000 for the larger rooms.

OFFER FIRMS AN INTEREST

An opportunity will be afforded to the business houses of Shanghai to provide a place to live for their young men under agreeable, wholesome circumstances, by investing in the bonds which will be issued on this buildings. The total amount of the bonds, to be offered according to the plan, is Tls. 400,000. Each firm will be entitled to reserve one of the larger rooms for each multiple of Tls. 2,000 in bonds which it may take, or one of the smaller for each multiple of Tls. 1,200.

Assurance has already been given that some of the business houses and many individuals will be glad to make an outright donation to cover a part at least of this enterprise.

For the bulk of the remaining cost, Taels 200,000 or more, the organisation looks to the liberality of friends in America. It is thought that the committees having control of certain war work funds, of the Y.M.C.A. and of the Red Cross, will realise that the men now residing in Shanghai are actually 66 Service men," on the firing line, on overseas duty, serving their country, subject to dangers to life and health just as when serving in the Army and Navy. The War Service Clubs in Shanghai, British and American, have 900 members.

HOPE FOR HOME AID

The civilian branches of the domestic and foreign Y.M.C.A. in America, it is hoped, will also realise that the Shanghai "foreign" young men come within their zones of action, and that they will do everything in their power to aid in the task which has been undertaken.

Therefore, these several groups in America will be asked to agree to donate approximately one third of the estimated cost, or $200,000 gold.

The committee consists of: J. H. Dollar, chairman; F. R. Sites, vice-chairman and secretary; H. H. Arnold, T. E. Doremus, G. A. Fitch, Wm. H. Fleming, Dr. W. G. Hiltner, H. R. Lane, W. A. B. Nichols, H. E. Marsden, C. M. Wentworth, T. F. van Wickel.

COLBY INTIMATES RECOGNITION FOR MEXICO IN SIGHT

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, October 30.—Mr. Bainbridge Colby (Secretary of State) has intimated that the United States is prepared to give recognition to the new Mexican Government soon. He said that a letter from Mr. Robert F. Pesquecia, the Mexican High Commissioner to Washington, offered a basis upon which "Preliminaries to recognition can confidently proceed." This letter said, inter alia, that the United States must see in the new Government "a new Mexico, facing the world in pride and confidence."

Washington, October 27.—The State Department has received a report that two Americans, Messrs Arthur L. Mosley and Gustave E. Salier, have been killed near Tampico.

America Assents To Higher Tariff Here For Famine Relief

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 30.—Conditionally upon a similar concession being agreed to by other Powers, the United States will consent to the imposition of a temporary extra tax of 10 percent in addition to the present Customs duty on American goods entering China, for the purpose of assisting China to support her famine sufferers, it being stipulated that the old duty will be restored at the end of the year.

French Exhibition Subject Of Address

(Reuter's Service)

Marseilles, October 30.—M. Artaud, commissioner-general of the 1922 French colonial exhibition, in the course of a lecture before leading business men and officials, emphasised the importance of the exhibition which, he declared, would demonstrate the full extent of the assistance France was able to obtain from her colonies in her task of economic reconstruction.

"I THINK THEM SPLENDID FOR CHILDREN"

A MOTHER'S PRAISE OF BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

For the sickly new-born babe or growing child Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's medicine, are a blessing. They are guaranteed entirely free from opiates and absolutely harmless, and are a remedy for teething troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, colic, indigestion, simple fever and worms. They promote calm natural sleep, good appetite, natural development and teething without tears.

Concerning them Mrs. Arthur Sheasiy, of Adanac, Saskatchewan, Canada, writes:—"I have tried Baby's Own Tablets and think them splendid for children of all ages."

Sold by medicine dealers, also, post free, 60 cents the vial from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Notice To Creditors

of the

TSING DAH BANK (晉大莊)

and

WEI DAH BANK (會大莊)

Creditors of the above-mentioned banks have already been invited to draw the last instalment payable at the end of the Fourth Moon of this year, by a notice inserted in the North China Daily News. A number of the creditors, however, have not yet done so.

We hereby inform the public that the office of the Liquidator will be abolished by the end of this moon, the 9th moon of the lunar calendar. All creditors of the above-mentioned banks must present their claims for payment together with the pass-books and/or other legal instruments immediately.

The claims will not be payable after the expiration of the term of office of the liquidator and the entire amount due and payable to creditors by the end of the ninth moon this lunar year will be contributed to some benevolent cause or causes in accordance with the decision of the creditors' meeting.

This notice is inserted in order that the liquidation of the above-named banks may be finally concluded.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

What The War Did For Japan

(The Japan Advertiser)

ANOTHER of those valuable reports which emanate from the British consular service to the great advantage of everybody who has business with or interest in Japan has just been presented to Parliament and published. Some time ago Mr. Oswald White, British Consul at Osaka, issued such a report on labor in Japan. Now Mr. Hugh Horne, Commercial Secretary to the British Embassy, deals with the commercial, industrial and financial position of Japan as affected by the war. This is, if we are not mistaken, the first effort which has been made to describe the effects of the war on Japan's trade position. It is a comprehensive and able survey, and a wide circle will be grateful to the British custom which makes so much information available to the world at the modest price of ninepence, or rather less than 30 sen. Its value does not, of course, end with the facts and statistics that it contains, carefully collected and arranged these are. The information is presented by an expert who can distinguish between essentials and incidentals. The value of this qualification needs no commendation to anyone who has ever had to deal with foreign studies of Japanese questions.

Mr. Horne's report is an expert examination of what the war did for Japan. Before the war Japan was suffering from the reaction that succeeded the boom she enjoyed after her victories in Manchuria. The so-called adverse balance of trade was the subject of anxious comment; the financial situation was difficult; business men were agitating against the "bad" taxes; employment was slack; there were hundreds of empty houses in Tokio; the topic of the hour in the magazines and newspapers was: "Is Japan losing self-confidence?"; prophets were found who predicted that Japan, with her heavy taxation and her adverse balance, was traveling down a slope that would end in financial disaster. The war changed all that. Japan was a belligerent on the side of the Allies, but, as Mr. Horne points out, "her unique position, remote from the central theater of hostilities, safeguarded her from the dangers and damages of war, and created for her vast commercial, economic and industrial opportunities of which she has, generally speaking, taken full advantage." The uncertainty caused at first by the dislocation of trade and the disturbance of exchange soon passed away and was succeeded by a strong revival which progressed by leaps and bounds and was not seriously checked until the spring of the present year. Japan ceased to be a debtor nation and became one of the few creditor nations in the world. She spent in connection with the war a total sum of 1340 million yen (including the purchase and redemption of Japanese bonds). She reduced her foreign debt by 174½ million yen. She doubled her national revenue. And at the same time she increased her business capital by the enormous sum of 4,383 millions and promoted 10,761 new companies. 4,094 of these companies and 1,709 millions of their capital date from 1919 but they represent, of course, the movement that was begun by the war. She added to her steam shipping a million and a quarter tons.

The armistice was unexpected. Business had been calculating on another 12 or 18 months of fighting, and many forward contracts had been made. Prices fell and there was a great cancellation of orders. A proportion of the latter was attributable to the mistaken policy of get-rich-quick merchants and manufacturers who had flooded their new market with inferior goods. But after slowing down for a month or two, business recovered and the boom was revived in 1919, with the result that for the first time in Japan's history her foreign trade passed the 4,000 million mark. There was a balance in favor of imports and the reappearance of the so-called adverse balance caused some pessimism, but the balance was probably more than accounted for by invisible exports, particularly in the form of the remunerative services of Japanese shipping. Trade, however, was unsettled and in 1919 bankruptcies were numerous, the causes being speculation, insufficient capital, over expansion. The slump became serious in the spring of the present year when sharemarket values fell by about half and there were corresponding falls in the prices of some of Japan's principal products. The crisis was met, as readers know, by concerted action backed by government assistance, and while heavy losses have been experienced there has been no breakdown of the economic structure. The relapse was the natural and inevitable result of a long period of ultra-rapid expansion. The tendency to contract will continue, but there is no reason to suppose that the dangerous corners which may yet be encountered will not be again turned by the same methods as the last.

Very interesting sections of the report deal with the labor movement. Before the war, Mr. Horne points out with perfect truth, there was practically no labor movement in Japan. Long hours and low wages were the rule, and there were no particular signs of discontent. The war has also changed all that. Rising prices forced the laborers to combine for advances of wages. The extent to which labor could be profitably employed was virtually unlimited, and so the laboring classes tasted the sweets of prosperity and, aided thereto by the spectacle of ostentatious narikinism, realised that they had not had their fair share of the products of their labor, and "they are beginning to feel their strength." Mr. Horne notes that the Government did not seek to enforce the police regulations which forbid strikes, and he sees "every indication that the authorities intend to allow trade unionism and combined action to develop on natural lines." That reading of the situation is amply supported by the general course of action which the Government has followed. Not the least of the services which Mr. Hara has rendered to the country during his Premiership was his wise decision to allow labor discontent to find its natural outlet and to offer no obstacles to labor's efforts to adjust its earnings to its needs and to the capacity of industry. Shortsighted efforts to enforce the law against strikes and labor unionism must have aggravated the trouble and would probably have given Japan something that she has happily escaped—a sense of frustration and bitterness against the authorities and the laws on the part of the working class.

Wages are still low in comparison with those paid in England but as Mr. Horne very effectively points out it does not follow that labor is cheap. The ratio between the efficiency of the West and that of Japan is still greater than between the respective wages. Under the most favorable conditions Mr. Horne believes that the efficiency of Japanese labor is as two against three compared with the efficiency of Western labor, and he points out that many writers place it as one against two. Further, the handling of machinery leaves much to be desired, and labor saving devices are little used. "It is therefore open to doubt whether the actual cost of production of competitive goods is lower in Japan than in England; in any case it is submitted that the difference in favor of Japan is not enough to justify the alarmist views which find wide expression in Great Britain and her colonies." This is well said, and it reveals a condition which deserves to be seriously considered in Japan. If by reason of low efficiency Japanese labor is as costly as British, how can the manufacturers of Japan expect to compete in the open markets of the world with the products of Lancashire and Sheffield and Glasgow?

That is looking to a future which as a matter of fact is now upon Japan and which confronts her industry with conditions very different from those it experienced during the war. Mr. Horne's report, dealing with the effect of the war upon Japan's trade and industry, shows how greatly it has absorbed the entire energies of Europe and no small part of those of America. From the point of view of trade and wealth the Japan of 1920 is a totally different country from the Japan of 1914.

IF

"I do not know a maxim or motto which is a greater incentive to energy, enterprise, and determination than the following lines from Kipling's "If."

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And what is more you'll be a Man, my son!

"I always carry a copy of this poem about with me, although I have read it scores of times I still find it has an encouraging influence when trouble arises."

SIR WILLIAM SEAGER, M. P. (Cardiff)

On Sunday all the best golfers were out to see if they could do the round in as few strokes as possible. The golf professional is getting as popular as he is busy and so the game is booming. Booming so much, that crowds flock to the Race Course, who have not the slightest idea of the etiquette of the great game. Only yesterday afternoon, two ladies were having a hit round, and were both putting in turn on the green, when a couple of—er—Bolshies hit clean on to the level turf, and began taking their turn at potting the little "Colonel." They were honestly surprised to hear that they were not in order. They did the round, from what one could count, in about as many as Quayle scored at cricket this season and—

THAT REMINDS ME

A certain caddie, although ordinarily his speech was quite normal, was apt to stammer badly when excited or surprised. One day he was caddying for a well known player, who on arriving at the seventh hole—particularly difficult—remarked:

"I did this hole in three the other day."

"What?" ejaculated the caddie. "Well sir, all I can say is that you are a l-l-l-l-l—

"Steady boy, steady!" interrupted the player fiercely.

"You're a l-l-lucky man, sir," concluded the caddie.

And so here is another:

An Englishman was on a walking tour in the Highlands. Meeting a Scotsman he said:

"Sandy, how far is it to Thurso?"

"Hoo did you ken my name was Sandy?" asked the Scotsman.

"I guessed it," was the reply.

"Then," said the Scotsman, "you can guess the distance to Thurso."

The Winnipeg Electric Public Service News says: "Good street car service depends just as much upon the car riders as it does upon the company. The greatest help you can give toward even better service than that given at present is to enter the car quickly, have the exact fare ready, then move away from the entrance so that it will be clear for the next passenger to enter and follow your good example. Long stops mean slow runs. A crowded entrance means inconvenience to yourself and those following you."

Which calls to mind:

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous clever,
He always walked down to his work
In any sort of weather,
No matter if it "Snew" or Blew"
Or if it chanced to rain,
When work was done he donned his hat,
And walked back home again.
For many years he walked like this
He didn't care two hoots!
He wore out twenty seven pairs
Of eighteen dollar boots.

Europe's Eager Thousands Pour Into The United States

(New York World)

In the war days, when to glance harborward was to lay one's self open to the suspicion that he was hostile to America and the Allies, none who was not bent on most official business could begin to approach the island down the bay which serves as the gateway to the New World.

Today, however, Ellis Island is a beehive of swarming visitors and access is reasonably easy.

During the war, of course, immigration almost ceased. With the conflict done and Europe's rehabilitation on its way the Port of New York has assumed its daily business of gathering into America's folds the vast outpourings of the Old World.

For a time it had been expected that immigration would not for many years attain the high totals that prevailed in the years immediately preceding the opening of hostilities. This country and that, it was predicted, would issue most stringent edicts prohibiting emigration on the ground that all its manhood would be required to sow the seeds of a new crop of prosperity. All hands, it was believed, would be compelled to remain at home to till and plough and weave and accomplish this part or that in the mighty game of bringing back Europe to its feet.

But Europe, though still far removed from economic stability, did not deem it necessary to bar outlet to those whose purpose it was to shake the old ground of political bickerings and of battle.

Today the influx to America is, if anything, in excess of the rate in the peak days of pre-war immigration. For months ahead the transatlantic steamship lines have booked their steerage accommodations to the full. Each day brings new tasks for the handful of Ellis Island inspectors and totals at the week end show that there has been no let up, but often a piling up, in the incoming tide of nations.

Several questions arose in the mind of a reporter of the World who undertook to look over the situation. Why were these men and women, with their families, forsaking the lands for which they had fought and bled and sacrified? What was their hope in America? Were they of a high type that the United States would be happy to assimilate, or a mediocre crew whose advent meant little profit to the New World's purposes and ideals? Or were they riffraff with the discontent that breeds Bolshevism and makes for trouble in our industrial centers and eventuates in deportation? Would the more stringent literacy test balk the newcomers?

To these and other queries that he pondered on the ferry boat taking him to Ellis Island the reporter found sufficient and contenting answers in Commissioner Frederick A. Wallis and Supt. P. A. Baker and in a study of the immigrants themselves.

CREST NOT YET REACHED

He found that—

1. This port is in the midst of an immigration wave that has not yet hit its crest, and that it probably will be months before there is any marked decrease in the number of arrivals.

2. An unusually large number of Spaniards are coming to America as mechanics and farm hands, many of them with cash in pocket for the purchase of land, thus lending encouragement to the Department of the Interior, which for a long time has been warning that there must be a back-to-the-land movement.

3. Italy is sending the largest number of immigrants. Ireland is contributing a considerable total. Eastern Europe is flocking to America in large groups. The Scandinavian countries are sending a substantial number. Russia, Germany and Austria are, of course, in a position making it impossible for their inhabitants to swell our immigration totals.

4. Many of the Italians arriving are reservists who went to war from this country and are now back for good, bringing the famines that were stranded at home during the war.

5. The type of the new immigrant is high, and there are comparatively few rejections because of the literacy test. There is little of radicalism among the newcomers.

6. Stowaways are coming in increasing numbers an indication of the determination of even the poorest to get to America.

7. Emigration from America has been heavy, but is exceeded by immigration, and most of those departing plan to return shortly with their families and take up permanent residence in the United States.

8. Most of the immigrants are attracted in no small measure by the fact that America's entry into the war was in the pursuit of democratic ideals and not for material again.

INSPECTORS OVERWORKED

The accommodations at Ellis Island, both as to quarters in which to facilitate the inspection of arrivals and as to the number of inspectors employed, are entirely inadequate to give sufficient and proper attention to the congestion of immigrants and in this shortage of accommodations lies the danger of skimping examinations and of affording the arrivals a poor introduction to the new land, obstacles that Commissioner Wallis is strenuously endeavoring to eliminate.

Every possible health precaution is being taken because of the advent of large number from the Eastern Europe districts in which epidemics have been prevalent. As a safeguard the authorities at Quarantine are each day transferring to Hoffman and Swinburne Islands, in the lower bay, thousands of steerage passengers for observation periods often lasting ten days, and, in addition, are fumigating the steerage quarters of every liner before the vessel is permitted to proceed to her pier.

To assure the speedier assimilation of foreigners and their ready acquaintance with American institutions and ideals, the State of New York has established a registration system which is to lead to the compulsory education of all arriving aliens taking up residence in this State.

IT BEGAN LAST MARCH

From July 1 of last year to June 30 of this year the departures of aliens from this port aggregated 324,254, as against an inflow in the same period amounting to 314,468 or almost 20,000 departures in excess of arrivals. However, it must be recalled that the normal departures each year before the war were about 350,000 to 500,000, with the inflow averaging almost a million. Many of those leaving in the past year have gone merely to see the folks at home, to supervise the renewal of family fortunes destroyed by the war and to bring back their relatives.

Furthermore, and even more important, it was not until March of this year that Ellis Island resumed a pre-war basis and the full swarm of immigration was possible. Since then the totals have been:

	Arrivals.	Departures
March	29,098	26,169
April	36,958	26,058
May	40,048	21,162
June	44,715	37,584

"We are getting immigrants just as fast as the limited number of ships and their limited capacities can bring them," said Commissioner Wallis. "Few realise how short we are of immigrant-bearing-vessels. Some twenty large carriers have been missing from this port since the war. Some were sunk by torpedoes, others have been placed in service elsewhere.

"Not a ship comes from Europe that isn't loaded to full capacity. This, too, despite the strict passport requirements of the war, which are still enforced here. Agents of the steamship lines tell me that they have full bookings far in advance, and that nine out of ten aliens going out of the country are doing so to bring back relatives. We see evidence of that every day at Ellis Island. A whole family arrives, some member of which was until recently a resident here.

"Steamship agents who have returned from abroad inform me that in many countries the desire of hundreds of thousands to come here has reached the stage of a burning fever."

FROM SPAIN'S VINEYARDS

Each liner from Spain is crowded with immigrants. Some of them are grape growers who fear that the drought will spread throughout the world and that Prohibition will become the rule rather than the exception. They have sold out their plants and have come here to engage in business. Many are Spanish land-owners who desire to transfer their agrarian endeavors to American fields, having read of the high prices paid for crops and of the need here of farmers. The majority of the several thousand Spaniards arriving here in the last four months, however, are skilled mechanics or farm workers. All have come because they believe they will get better pay here, and all intend to taken out citizenship papers. Then too, it can be said that the Spanish Government stands not averse to the presence in America of large numbers of its people, as a means of establishing close relations between the two countries.

As just before the war, there is a preponderance of Italians among the immigrants. Not only men, but thousands of women and children. Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia, attracted by America's high war ideals, are heavily represented to the arrival lists. Not a few of these, as is the case frequently with the Italians, resided in the United States and returned to their native lands to figure under their old standards, planning now, however, to remain here permanently.

Commissioner Wallis paid high tribute to the new type of immigrant. Most of the aliens have found the literacy test not too arduous, being able to read the forty words required and pass the other requirements, though here and there rejections are necessary for failure to meet literacy tests. The number of failures on this score is comparatively low because of precautions by steamship companies, who see to it that, so far as they can, their patrons will measure up to America's standards. In explanation it may be said that deportations are at the expenses of the carrying steamship company.

Recently there arrived from Mexico a wealthy merchant and his wife, both of whom were able to produce an abundance of cash, but neither of whom could measure up to the literary requirements. The ironic feature is that they have in a private school in Massachusetts a fifteen-year-old daughter who is regarded as the most apt pupil in that institution, and who was able to present to the immigration authorities heated arguments in most fluent, though unconvincing, English.

A problem that has caused the authorities no small concern is that of the heavy number of stowaways. It is unusual when a liner falls to develop at least one such arrival, and three or four stowaways per vessel are not uncommon. On the steamship France there came two months ago twenty stowaways. Stowaways are unpopular with steamship companies, for their deportation requires an expenditure by the lines. To make up some of this expense the stowaways are compelled to work their home passage. Occasionally some of them remain at the Ellis Island station for indefinite periods because relatives or friends have appealed their cases to Washington. As a rule, however, the decision is in the negative and they go back.

CROWDS TAX FACILITIES

Congestion and insufficient facilities are the main difficulties that confront the immigration authorities. For instance, in one day the Kroonland brought to the port 521 immigrants, the Philadelphia, 437; the Regina d'Italia, 1,600; La Lorraine, 512. On another day of the same week the total topped 6,000. The Olympic alone brought 1,100 one day, and a few hours later came the Dante Alighteri with 1,700. The Rotterdam last week brought 1,683 steerage passengers, of whom almost one-third were children from Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

To handle the arrivals there are a number of boards of inquiry which examine each alien as to his purpose in coming here, his ability to maintain himself or herself without support from others or the State, and ability to measure up to literacy tests. Normally half a dozen of these boards can handle all the arrivals each day. Lately Commissioner Wallis has had to add four or five of these boards, and the number even now is too small for the task at hand. The inspectors are far too few, and the general lack of facilities is such that Commissioner Wallis a few days ago insisted to the Department of Labor, which has the immigration service within its scope, that immediate improvements are essential if the newcomers are to receive other than an adverse first impression of their new land.

CORDIALLY WELCOMED

"I would be insensible to all the higher impulses of patriotism and the generous sentiments of humanitarianism and hospitality if I failed to give these people, crowding here by the thousands, a reception worthy of the institutions of our country," said Commissioner Wallis, "and I am determined to make their way through the gates of the United States as free from hardships and inconveniences as possible.

"I am chagrined that we are poorly equipped to meet such an emergency, but I have the assurance of all the heads of the department at Washington that Ellis Island will be built up to its requirements. The fact that the immigrants coming comprise a very acceptable class makes the situation all the more important."

The other day, in answer to the Commissioner's protests against the facilities, the Department of Labor sent to Ellis Island Hugh Reid, secretary to Assistant Secretary of Labor Louis F. Post. He learned that because of the literacy tests a large number of inspectors are required above the total that could handle the arrivals were it not for these tests. Other inspectors must vise passports, a system not in vogue before the war.

The investigator found that the detention overnight of large groups who were not handled during the day because of the shortage of inspectors caused a tremendous overcrowding of sleeping quarters. Indeed, the jam at times has been so serious that the island has requested steamship companies to hold steerage passengers aboard ship for a number of hours until room could be provided for their handling.

HEALTH SAFEGUARDS

Another situation that of late weeks has developed in the maze of difficulties confronting the authorities is the necessity of strict health safeguards—a vital factor at all times, but more important at this time than ever for the reason that large masses are coming from disease-ridden areas, and fort the additional reason that it is feared that unless extreme precautions are taken there may be brought into the United States some of the diseases that will be encountered in the Mohammedan pilgrimage to Mecca, now in progress.

A few weeks ago the steamship Olympic was held down the bay all day and overnight because at Cherbourg the authorities and the steamship company had failed to make certain that there was no disease among the 188 steerage passengers who had booked from typhus sections of Eastern Europe. This negligence of oversight necessitated the holding of the boat overnight, with the constituent delay of several hundred cabon passengers who had to wait hours of transfer by excursion boats. The 100 steerage passengers were transferred to Hoffman Island under a five day quarantine. In addition the steerage quarters were fumigated before the liner, largest oil burner in the world, was permitted to proceed up the bay and river to her pier next morning.

Europe's Eager Thousaads Pour Into The United States

That was the beginning of the progam now in force. Every incoming liner is put through those paces if it carries people who have come from disease areas, and who have not been examined abroad before sailing it United States Health Service doctors. Some companies are now establishing detention camps at which passengers are quartered for six days prior to sailing, at a nominal fee covering actual expenses.

Matters have not been helped by the development of a misunderstanding between the American and Italian Governments over the insurance of bills of health to ships leaving Italian ports. For many years the United States maintained doctors at European consulates, charged with the duty of making health inspections of those sailing for the United States. It appears that lately Italy has denied this privilege to our health examiners, with the result that every Italian steamship's steerage passengers are, as a precaution, immediately transferred to a quarantine station on arrival in port.

A move that augurs well for the speedy Americanisation of immigrants has been made by the American Legion. Hereafter Ellis Island will inform local posts of the Legion that such and such an alien is destined for its town. On his arrival the foreigner will be greeted by representatives of the Legion wherever possible, including a man who can speak the newcomer's language. The alien will be helped to find a house and will be instructed in American laws and customs and assisted in placing his children in schools.

George Petrogeanis, an Athenian, bound for Bisbee, Ariz., where resides a brother who had issued to send travelling money, was held at Ellis Island for deportation because he didn't have enough money to get to his destination, though physically and mentally he passed the tests.

When 500 Greek steerage arrivals were landed at Ellis Island, one of them, by name Sotirous Athanasaulias, chanced to hear sobs and moans from a window of the detention room. Investigating, he came upon George, an oldtime pal. In a few minutes Sotirous was passing a hat about, and from the pockets of the 500 came coins, and an hour later George was headed for a train to the West.

HUSKY DUTCH FAMILY

The day before there came the case of a Dutch family headed by Jacob C. de Jong. The family comprised eight children, all in finest health and anxious "to get to work and help build up America." A model immigrant family they were voted by the inspectors. Papa de Jong laid $5,000 on an inspector's desk an evidence of his ability to help his family and help America. Then his wife reached into a handbag and added another $5,000.

"We are anxious to buy a little home, preferably a farm," said de Jong in fair English. "I was a ship chandler in Holland and successful. I want to invest my money in America and live here and have my family grow up as Americans."

De Jong is forty-seven, his wife fifty. The children range from eight to twenty. They are now in Chicago.

Araski Hechadoorian, a seventeen-year-old American girl, face disfigured with tattoo marks inflicted by an Arab, was detained because she could not pass some of the requirements. Her father is a wealthy Chicago merchant. Her uncle is a well-to-do Philadelphia physician. She had seen her mother slain by Arabs and cast to the roadside and her sister starved to death. She was forced to become the bride of an Arab, and was rescued when she spied British soldiers to whom she made the sign of the cross. In her case the authorities interpreted the regulations with a lenience that enabled her to enter and join her father.

To that type of family Ellis Island gives the glad hand. Ready to knuckle down to the grind and make good at the start. No radicalism. No dissatisfaction. Just a determination to be assimilated by America and Americans and Americanism.

The other day Lieut. Marco Stasi, badly "shot up" on the Piave, was literally pushed into the United States to the cheers of a multitude of other Italians at the island. He had been crippled in the war and was returning to San Francisco in a wheel chair. He was bent on resuming his occupation as storekeeper on the coast, and the authorities were so ready to expedite matters for the hero that attendants shoved the wheel chair aboard the ferry boat to the Barge Office.

'MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY'

Detained for months because of uncertainty as to his nativity, Macgregor Ross, who has become known as "a man without a country," is inclined to consider himself a permanent Ellis Islander. Ross, who is more than sixty years old, is an I. W. W. Two years ago he was arrested in Seattle and sent to Ellis Island for deportation. He claimed American citizenship. The authorities proclaimed him a Scot. In Scotland no record of his birth was found, so he was refused a passport by Britain. Eventually he was released. He returned to Seattle, was again sent to Ellis Island for deportation, and the old wrangle was renewed. Scotland still denies him. Ross himself insists he is an American. He does not know when or where he was born, but claims to recollect selling newspapers on the Bowery decades ago.
